Credit for the successful engineering of the party should go to Mrs. Rogers and Miss Kemple, the class advisors. Another interesting feature of the party was that there were no unexpected guests from the upper classes. Examinations started on Tuesday, and the last were given this morning. Two exams are given each day, both in the forencon. Two hours are given to each subject and the afternoon is left vacant in order that the teachers may do a few necessary things. The new semester starts on Monday and the principal wishes to announce that all persons who wish to attend high school the second term and are not in attendance at the present time must
